Termékleírás

FEIN pants are designed for everyday work that requires freedom of movement, thermal comfort and durability. Sporty design inspired by outdoor clothing is combined with functional solutions that really improve comfort during many hours of use. Lightweight, quick-drying material with the addition of elastane adapts well to the figure and does not restrict movement. In the areas most exposed to overheating, such as the crotch and the knee area, ventilation inserts are used to improve air circulation and increase the comfort of work, especially during intense movement. The raised back of the trousers effectively protects the lower back and provides comfort when bending over and working on the ground, eliminating the feeling of exposure and discomfort. The ergonomic cut and profiled legs make the pants fit well both in movement and in the working position. Additional reflective elements improve the user's visibility, and the ability to extend the legs by 4 cm allows you to better adjust the pants to your height, increasing their versatility.
